Americanism

Today's Americanism was presented by Compatriot, D.A. Sharp. His topic for the morning was "The Value of Reputation". He discussed the wide variation in the reputations of patriot Benjamin Franklin and famous traitor Benedict Arnold who earned the worst reputation for that time period.

Program

The main speaker for the day's program is Compatriot, John Guittard. Mr. Guittard was the Registrar for the Chapter and is a well known speaker to the group. His topic for today was "The Deciding Battle of the American Revolution". Despite the fact that Yorktown was the point of surrender for the British, the deciding battle occurred prior to that on the sea. This battle, the Battle of Chesapeake Bay was funded and supported by Compte De Grasse a brilliant French naval commander. Without help from the French, it is doubtful that the revolution would have been won by the American Patriots. Following the presentation, President George Ramphrey presented Mr. Guittard with a replica of a revolutionary cannon and certificate of appreciation.
